

JENNI JOHNSON GABELSBERG

DPT, MSc, MTC, WCS, BCIA-PMDB

- FOUNDER Women's Advantage, Inc., 2001
- BOARD-CERTIFIED Women's Health Clinical Specialist, American Board of Physical Therapy Specialties, 2009
- DOCTOR OF PHYSICAL THERAPY University of St. Augustine for Health Sciences, 2002
- ADVANCED MASTER'S Orthopedic Physical Therapy, University of St. Augustine for Health Sciences, 1999
- CERTIFIED Manual Therapy Certification, Institute of Physical Therapy, 1995
- Pelvic Muscle Dysfunction Biofeedback, Biofeedback Certification Institute of America
- BACHELOR OF SCIENCE Physical Therapy, University of Vermont, 1994
- MEMBER American Physical Therapy Association's Private Practice & Women's Health Sections, National Vulvodynia Association, International Pelvic Pain Society, American Urogynecologic Society (AUGS)
- FACULTY INSTRUCTOR Herman Wallace Pelvic Rehab Institute (pelvicrehab.com)
Teaches nationwide courses on urogynecological and obstetric evaluation and plan of care
- EXPERT PEER ARTICLE REVIEWER Journal of Sexual Medicine
- FOUNDING MEMBER AND SPEAKER Pelvic Floor Sexual Medicine Healthcare Professionals of Southern California
- COMMITTEES AUGS Allied Health Education Work Group

WOMEN'S ADVANTAGE
MEN'S OPTIMAL HEALTH
specialized pelvic physical therapy

Passionate about pelvic health.

"I've always loved being a physical therapist and have enjoyed all my education and experience in the different aspects of the profession. When I discovered how physical therapy could dramatically improve problems like incontinence and pelvic pain, I found my true passion. To be able to make such a difference in the lives of my patients means so much to me."

Compassion, understanding & hope.

"The conditions we treat are incredibly personal. Many patients find that talking openly to a compassionate care provider (and mother of three) about an intensely personal health concern is a big relief."

"We have dedicated ourselves to creating a welcoming place for you – among practitioners who understand how you feel. Here, there is always hope for resolving your problem and empowerment that allows you to take better control of your health for the future."

In her spare time, Jenni enjoys pilates, yoga, cycling, running and paddleboarding, as well as spending time with her family. She also is a head coach for the nonprofit foundation Girls on the Run, teaching girls in third through fifth grade.

WOMEN'S ADVANTAGE
MEN'S OPTIMAL HEALTH
specialized pelvic physical therapy

